Death Mystery In Santa Cruz Hinges On Shell

SANTA CRUZ, Sept. 27.—(UP)—The mystery of the death of Mrs. L. A. Thornewill, wealthy Santa Cruz poultry fancier tonight hinged on an empty cartridge from an army rifle.

Sheriff deputies were attempting to locate the empty shell in an effort to determine whether the woman committed suicide or was murdered.

Mrs. Thornewill was found dead today in the kitchen of her home. A rifle lay nearby. It had been discharged once. Blood stains in the adjoining room led officers to believe the woman had been dragged into the kitchen after death.

L. A. Thornewill, believed to be the woman's estranged husband was questioned.

After investigating the case, officials said the woman's real name was Mrs. Cora Meade and that for six years she lived with Thornewill, a former member of the Canadian mounted police.

TEACHERS HERE IN COUNTY SESSION

Problems pertinent to the secondary curriculum of Contra Costa schools will be discussed at the county institute of teachers to be held at the Richmond high school auditorium today. Teachers of grades between the seventh and the twelfth will attend the session.

According to William H. Hanlon, county superintendent of schools, curriculum investigations and revision are at present important problems in the county educational program. The Contra Costa county testing program has shown the inability of pupils in county schools. Hanlon declared. The educational policy of promotion on the basis of attainment alone has placed many pupils of limited capacity in upper grades of elementary schools and the high schools. At the same time, Hanlon states, the more capable pupils have increased in number and in diversity of capacity and desires.

A joint survey of the county schools and a study of school problems is planned for the meet. Teachers of the Richmond high and junior high schools, the Martinez and the Crockett high schools will attend the session.

ON HONESTY

By Herbert Hoover in an address on Business Ethics

I am one of those who believe in the substratum of inherent honesty, the fine vein of service and kindness in our citizenship. The vast volume of goods and services that daily flow through the land would cease instantly were it not for the instinctive dependence of our people upon the moral responsibility of the men who labor in the shops and farms and the men who direct our production and distribution.

In these times of muddled thought, it is sometimes worth repeating a truism. Industry and commerce are not based upon taking advantage of other persons. Their foundations lie in the division of labor and exchange of products. For through specialization we increase the total and variety of production and secure its diffusion into consumption. By some false analogy to the "survival of the fittest" many have conceived the whole business world to be a sort of economic "dog eat dog." We often lay too much emphasis upon its competitive features, too little upon the fact that it is in essence a great cooperative effort.

The problem of business ethics, as a prevention of abuse, is of two categories; those where the standard must be of individual moral perceptions, and those where we must have a determination of standards of conduct for a whole group in order that there may be a basis for ethics.

The standards of honesty, of a sense of mutual obligation and of service, were determined two thousand years ago. They may require at times to be recalled.

The second field is the great area of indirect economic wrong and unethical practices that spring up under the pressures of competition and habit.

If we are to find solution to these collective issues outside of government regulation we must meet two practical problems:

First, there must be organization in such form as can establish the standards of conduct in this vast complex of shifting invention, production and use. There is no existing basis to check the failure of service, of the sacrifice of public interest. Someone must determine such standards. They must be determined and held flexibly in tune with the intense technology of trade.

Second, there must be some sort of enforcement. There is the perpetual difficulty of a small minority who will not play the game. They too often bring disrepute upon the vast majority; they drive many others to adopt unfair competitive methods which all deplore; their abuses give rise to public indignation and clamor which breed legislative action.

Assessment and enrollment of the large army of men and women who have never before participated in politics is to be actively undertaken in Pennsylvania by party leaders who are supporting the Hoover-Curtis ticket. From all sections of the State reports have reached Washington that men and women who have never voted are now anxious to cast their first ballot for the republican ticket. The large percentage of women who are actively taking a part in the campaign suggests the largest registration of the female vote since suffrage was granted.—Pittsburgh (Pa.) Spirit.

Labor this year will vote republican as it has in the past. It is aware of Herbert Hoover's ability, as president, to help the working man. He knows more about the problem of distribution than any other man in the world, and distribution is the outstanding difficulty in the way of greater prosperity.—Hudson, N.Y.

Julie Says

An outstanding fashion note at a recent Polo game was this new sport cardigan jacket suit of dark blue velvet. The blouse was of beige flat crepe and had a turned-down collar with a tie. A very youthful model and very charming among the many smart outfits of more sophisticated lines. Velvet and also corduroy among the velvet family are as popular for sport wear as the transparent and chiffon are for afternoon and evening wear. There is a new very soft corduroy so far removed from the familiar kind of little brother's pants that the relationship doesn't seem possible.

BEAUTY

Dear Miss Lane,

My face is inclined to be rather thin (although I am not at all underweight otherwise) and gets rather haggard looking when I'm tired. I have heard of a good skin food and wonder if you would recommend its use.

If you are sure that you are not underweight (so many women wouldn't admit it for a fortune if they were these days) then by all means try the skin food. With careful application, it may help to fill out hollows to some extent and will do away with that "tired" lined look that you complain of.

After cleansing your face with your cleaning cream, pat the skin food briskly into the skin with your finger tips or with one of the "patters" made for this purpose and sold by most beauty shops now. This stimulates the circulation and will promote the health of your skin. The "patting" process is now generally considered to be more beneficial than massaging, which may in time stretch the skin, and injure the network of blood vessels to the surface.

I feel that I must caution you again to be sure that you are not underweight because, if you are, no amount of patting in this world will round out your face.

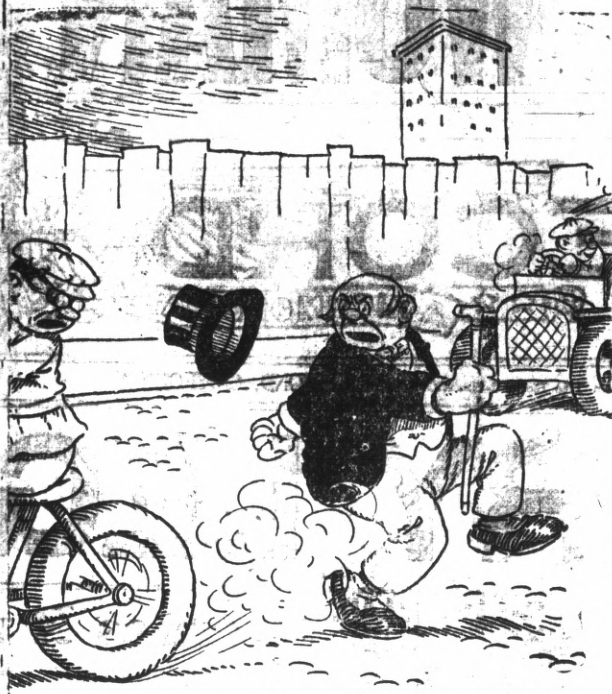

Dear Miss Lane,
What is the best way to use an astringent lotion?

Soak a piece of clean cotton in the lotion and pat it gently all over the face for at least five minutes.

Dear Miss Lane,
What can I do to make my skin

AND THE WORST IS YET TO COME pretty!—Emma.

Take care of it. I could help you more if I had a more detailed account of your troubles.

Dear Miss Lane,
What can I do to make my skin

The statement followed reports that the corporation commissioner's office had temporarily suspended the stock selling permit of the company. ## DOUBLEHEADER GIVES YANKS TOP CINCH

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(U.P.)—The world series of 1928 will open at Yankee stadium next Thursday afternoon, barring a miracle, and in all probability the visiting National League club will be wearing the red and grey of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Both major league pennant races were brought appreciably closer to conclusion as a result of today's ball games, the New York Yankees virtually clinching the American League flag by winning two ends of a double header at Detroit.

The New York Giants divided a double-header with the Chicago Cubs and lost ground to the St. Louis Cardinals, who won at Boston. The first game in New York which the Giants lost, has been protested by Manager McGraw.

The Chicago Cubs were definitely eliminated as possible pennant winners when they lost the second game to the Giants.

By winning two games at Detroit, the Yankees gained half a game on the Philadelphia Athletics, who kept themselves from complete annihilation by defeating the Chicago White Sox.

The situation in the American League race is such, however, that the Athletics must win all their remaining games while the Yankees are losing all theirs if the pennant is not to go to New York for the third year in succession.

HIGH B'S TEAM DEFEATED BY SAN JOSE

Richmond Union high school B team failed to stop the gridiron from the deaf and dumb school of San Jose yesterday afternoon and received a drubbing of 13 to 0.

The silent boys were too much for the local team which was unable to make much headway. The opponents scored a touchdown during the first seven minutes of play. They converted for an additional point with a nicely placed kick.

In the third quarter, they annexed another touchdown, but were blocked while trying to convert.

Richmond's starting lineup included Greene, center; Barton, end; Seawright, guards; Block and Betts, tackles; Dagna and Drexel, end; Pruden, full; Craig and Martinez, halves; Christian, quarter.

CARDS READY FOR OLYMPIC BATTLE

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Sept. 27.—Stanford will attempt to take Olympic club football team in stride.

Not that "Pop" Warner underestimates the strength of the Winged "O". On the contrary, he has warned Cardinal supporters not to be surprised if the Olympians trot off the field Saturday afternoon on the long end of the score. However, the Cards cannot afford to point for the club as their real objective games are with conference teams later in the season.

HARD BATTLE

Considering the early date, the Olympic club contest will be about as tough a battle as the Cardinals have to face this season. It should be a hard-fought battle, which the Cards may decide.

With such stars as "Cowboy" Kutsch, Morlon Kaer, Pat Wilson, and Allen in the backfield, the clubmen have a brilliant and smooth working offense. Kutsch is one of the most colorful and elusive backs ever to perform on this coast and will doubtless cause the Cards plenty of trouble. With such men as Diehl, Ford, Carothers and Brewster in the line, the club is hard to score on and Wilson and Allen in the backfield are mighty tough defensively.

OLYMPICS LOOK STRONG

On the basis of comparative scores, the Olympics look considerably stronger. The club beat the West Coast army 38-0 while the Cards aggregation was 21-8. However, the soldiers were a better team against Stanford than they were against the Olympic club.

Probable starting lineups for the Saturday game are as follows:

STANFORD—Preston, ler; Selman ler; Post, lrg; Heinicke, rht; Robsky, rgt; Artman, rht; Harder, rht; Smaling, q; Wilton, rht; Smith, rht; Hoffman, (C) f.

OLYMPIC CLUB—Ford, lrg; Brewster, lrg; Diehl, lrg; Crothers, q; Smith, rgt; Kuhn, rht; Crutcher, rht; Wilson, (C) f; Kutsch, lht; Kaer, rht; Allen, f.

McGale, Cullen Preparing For El Cerrito Go

McGale by the way, will tangle with Freddie Cullen, an Omaha, Cullen is working out in Oakland and his trainers remark that he is raring to go.

Al Robinson and Pancho Villa will dance about in the six round prelim. Irish Mickey Cone will try his luck with Johnny Norman.

In the semi-final, Joe Limas and Eddie Doody will mix. Charlie Actis, local fighter, meets Bert Meyers of San Francisco in the curtain raiser.

BEARS TO PLAY SANTA CLARA TOMORROW

BERKELEY, Sept. 27.—The ninth renewal of California-Santa Clara football hostilities tomorrow will be anything but a tea-party for the Bears, it seems certain today.

California will open the season tomorrow against the strongest team Santa Clara has had since Adam Walsh took over the reins down the peninsula, by its coach's own admission, while the combination of 11 men that Nibs Price had appeared to have settled on for his starting lineup has been broken up.

Joe Pitts, who was slated to start at right guard, is definitely out with an injured knee. Don Koch has been shifted up from the second team to take his place.

RUSS AVERY OUT

Russ Avery, the only sophomore to be placed with the first 11 is under the care of Dr. William Donald, team medical advisor, for an infection of his leg which has threatened to develop into blood poisoning. Bob Norton, of the second string has been playing in Avery's position at left-end for the last few nights.

Riegels, the youngest who was the regular varsity center all last season although only a sophomore, may be displaced by Miller at game time. Riegels is a good passer, but is not as big a man as Miller, and strength is needed in the three central places.

Further changes may be made later this week, according to Price, who intimated today that he is considering other possible shifts.

PROBABLE LINEUPS

The probable starting lineup for the teams tomorrow afternoon, barring further changes, will be as follows:

CALIFORNIA—Norton, ler; Pitts, lrg; H. Gill, lrg; Riegels, q; Koch, rgt; Bancroft, rht; Phillips, rht; Lom, lht; Barr, rht; Schmidt, f.

SANTA CLARA—Koller, ler; Reiser, rht; Schenck, lrg; Slidner, q; Ruffo, rgt; Bitchbarren, rht; Valine, rht; Haskinson, q; Cummings (C) lht; C. Miller, rht; Terrence, f.

FRESH CONTEST

The Varsity game at 2:30 will be preceded by the usual freshman curtain-raiser, scheduled to begin at 12:30. While it will be the first game of the season for Coach Rick Mitchell's Bear cubs, Pat Connolly's young Santa Clarans have already had a taste of competition this fall, losing last week to the strong San Mateo Junior college outfit.

J. F. MacKenzie, athletic manager at the University of California, has completed preparations for the largest opening day crowd in the history of football at Berkeley. Last year the attendance at the opener was approximately 33,000. Plans have been made for 40,000 this year.

Officials for the Varsity game will be: Jerry Abbott, referee; J. R. Klawns, umpire; Tom Fitzpatrick, head linesman, and A. B. Koshel, field judge.

There will be no closed areas near the stadium for the Santa Clara game, according to the traffic office of the Berkeley police department. Packing will not be allowed on grounds, but there will be no restrictions on other streets.

Baby Redshirts To Meet Juniors

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Sept. 27.—"Husky" Hunt's Stanford Freshman grid team plays its second game of the season, here Saturday at 12:30 as a preliminary to the Stanford-Olympic club contest, which will start at 2:30.

The yearlings' opponents will be the Santa Rosa Junior college gridgers. In their first start, the baby redshirts played a 6-6 tie with the 250th Coast Artillery last Saturday.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Sept. 27.—Stanford's varsity gridgers will wear white jerseys with red stripes on the sleeves this year as they did last. They will have red numbers both on the front and back of the jerseys. Numbers on the front are six inches high and those on the back nine inches.

"THE SINGING FOOL," starring Al Jolson, is a Warner Bros. picture. A lion of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

After a night of revelry at a New York uptown night club, Marcus, the famous revue producer, takes a party of four to Blackie Joe's downtown club, which stays open until sunrise. They are seated at a "ringside table" by Al Stone, Blackie's chief comedian and singing waiter, who takes their order for beer. Al is unaware of Marcus's identity. Grace, the cigarette girl, is devoted to Al and really in love with him, but he does not see that. Al fills the order for beer and on his return from the bar sees Molly, the ballad singer in her dressing room. He muses toward her as if drawn by a magnet. He is in love with her, but Molly is indifferent to him.

CHAPTER III

Al entered Molly's dressing room, depositing his tray of beers on a nearby stand. He forgot the drinks, forgot the party of fashionably dressed men and women who were impatiently waiting for them in the big room outside, forgot everything except the girl he adored—Molly.

He stood quietly by her side for a moment, saying nothing. And Molly, the ballad singer, continued deftly the business of making up, as she sat before her dressing table. She wished to goodness that this singing waiter, who was always composing silly songs, would transfer his affections to someone else. But, finally, she couldn't escape the penetrating insistence of his eyes as he gazed over her shoulder at her decidedly attractive face.

"What a beautiful sight," she murmured, "in the mirror." She turned her head with a sigh of resignation, and said ambiguously: "Ain't love grand?"

Al did not know quite what she meant by that. If she were spoofing him, well, she could—she didn't mind. Whatever she said, she couldn't prevent his loving her. But now her remark unlocked the flood gates of his speech.

"I can't help it, Molly, if I'm crazy about you, he whispered ardently, coming still closer. "I've been that way ever since the first time I saw you. I think you're the most beautiful girl in the world—on the level, I do."

Al longed to reach out and stroke her glossy golden hair, he wanted to kiss her beautiful little white hands and pull her close to him. But he realized he couldn't do that now; her attitude said so plainly.

For Molly, she was mildly amused and flattered at the impression she had made. No woman likes being called the most beautiful girl in the world, even if she doesn't believe the man who says it. But after all, he was just a singing waiter, a chap with no prospects. She said to him crisply:

"Be yourself, waiter."

The remark should have been like a slap in the face to Al, but it wasn't. If he had stopped to think he would have recognized the address of the waiter's smile; to humiliate him.

"You know, Molly," he began earnestly, "I'm not going to be a waiter any more. Some day I'm going to sell some of the songs I've written. Don't you see, Molly, that if I just gave you my love, I can't miss. I can write ballads that will make you the most famous girl in the world."

Molly's forehead was apparent. "Oh, you're joking, Al. I've heard all that talk before."

But Al wasn't joking. He began earnestly, "I'm not going to be a waiter any more. Some day I'm going to sell some of the songs I've written. Don't you see, Molly, that if I just gave you my love, I can't miss. I can write ballads that will make you the most famous girl in the world."

the words and arranged the music he had visualized Molly singing it in her lovely, sensuous, contralto voice. "It was her song," she had inspired it completely.

Molly had returned to her make up boxes; she did not even glance up as Al extended the song for her inspection.

"Molly!" he pleaded desperately. "Can't you see that, although I can't talk the way I feel, I can write my feelings into music. I've written this song just for you. I want you to do something for me—sing it tonight!"

Al's beseeching tone would have brought a sympathetic response from almost any woman, but not Molly. She was humming softly to herself as if to drown out his words. Meanwhile, the beers stood on the nearby table, the white, feathery foam gone from their tops. Meanwhile, Marcus the great producer, was in the outside room, waiting at the door.

He rapped peremptorily on the table and finally summoned Blackie Joe himself to make a complaint. Blackie listened, nodded rapidly, and headed for the bar in search of Joe. But at the doorway he glanced down the corridor and saw his singing waiter in earnest confab with Molly. Blackie took in the situation at a glance, but decided not to bawl out Al. After all, when a man is in love, you must expect him to be fairly, reasonably, Blackie. He stepped to the door and said, not unkindly: "Come on, Al—on the job."

Molly refused to sing the song.

Al turned to his tray of beers but, before picking it up, thrust his precious song on Molly's dressing table before her.

"Read the words, please," he begged and, catching up his tray, vanished.

Blackie Joe stood nonchalantly in the doorway, one hand thrust into his trousers' pocket, staring after Al's retreating back. Then the proprietor rushed to Molly.

"Molly, do your stuff tonight. Marcus is out in front."

Molly straightened as if touched by an electric shock. All trace of boredom vanished.

"Blurt my mouth, Blackie! You don't mean it—not Marcus who puts on the roof revues?"

"No one else but," said Blackie, nodding delightedly.

MUTUAL STORES OCCUPY NEW S.F. HOME

Taking another step forward in their policy of expansion over central California, the Mutual Stores are now in their new plant and headquarters building in San Francisco, on Twelfth street between Howard and Folsom.

This building, with its equipment, represents an investment of a million dollars, and houses the offices, warehouses, bakery, creamery, coffee roasting plant and shops, serving all Mutual and Jenny Wren Stores in San Francisco and the Peninsula cities.

3 STORY HOME
The new Mutual building is a three story concrete structure, with a floor space of approximately 200,000 feet. It formerly was occupied by the California Baking company and is fully equipped with the latest style mixing machinery, traveling ovens and other bakery equipment, which will be used to serve the San Francisco stores with bread and pastry. A complete new creamery has been installed also, to pasteurize and bottle the milk and cream for the San Francisco stores, with a complete refrigeration system and storage freezer for ice cream.

The coffee roasting plant which serves the entire Mutual system is now in this building too, and has been improved by the addition of considerable new machinery. Both the grocery and produce warehouses for the San Francisco stores are here, with their bookkeeping and billing offices.

FLEET OF TRUCKS
Carpenters, paint and machine shops for the stores and motor equipment occupy part of the ground floor of the new building, and garage space for the large fleet of Mutual trucks is also included here. Above the offices, an auditorium with a seating capacity of 500 is provided for the employees, with a complete kitchen in connection.

At present there are about 85 Mutual and Jenny Wren stores on the San Francisco side of the bay, which will be served from the new building. Leases have been signed for 24 additional stores which will open during the next few weeks, and further expansion is contemplated for the near future.

The occupation of this building is the latest in a series of large transactions completed by the Mutual stores during the past year. The company has recently completed a million dollar building in Oakland, to serve the East Bay stores, and early this year bought the Jenny Wren chain of markets, consisting of 54 units. The Mutual stores now operate 285 stores and markets in more than 20 cities and towns, and present plans call for expansion to about 325 by the end of the year.

DEER HUNTERS
John Hooper and Paris Butts, both are in the vicinity of Nevada City, where they are hot on the trail of the elusive deer. They expect to be gone for about two weeks.

PAYMENT OF DEBTS

The transfer of said assets shall be subject to the payment of said debts, obligations, liabilities and taxes, and all lien on said assets to secure the payment of said debts, obligations, liabilities and taxes by the company shall be served to the district shall be not to exceed five (5) years from the date hereof, with the right to enforce the same in the event that the district for any reason fails to pay and discharge said debts, obligations, liabilities and taxes by either foreclosing said lien, or at the option of the company, the company may begin any other appropriate action or proceeding against the district because of such defaults; provided that in the event of a bona fide sale or sales of any of said assets, if situated anywhere in Alameda county, or if situated in Contra Costa county west of and below the San Pablo reservoir, the said lien on the making of any such sale shall thereupon cease as to the property so sold and be of no further force or effect as to such property; provided, that nothing herein contained shall be deemed to obligate the district to pay or discharge the bonds of indebtedness of the company or any other debts, obligations or liabilities of the company prior to the maturity thereof; provided, further, that if the federal income taxes, if any, assessed or assessable against the company shall not have been paid or discharged by the district at or prior to the expiration of five (5) years from the date hereof the lien as to said taxes shall continue unless the district deposit with a trust company a sum sufficient to discharge any such tax.

NO PRESENT DEBTS

In this connection the company represents that it has no actual knowledge of any debts or liabilities, except those shown on its records and regular books of account kept by it in the ordinary course of business, and no shown at the time of the delivery of said assets to the district, and except matters in litigation mentioned in the letter of A. G. Tashler, Esq., dated September 21, 1928, and addressed to the attorney for the district.

(b) The district will pay to the stockholders of the company and to the liquidators of the company, in the manner hereinafter provided, the sum of thirteen million nine hundred sixty-two thousand, two hundred dollars ($13,962,200), plus accrued unpaid dividends, at the rate of six per cent (6%) per annum on the A preferred stock, and six per cent (6%) per annum on the B preferred stock from the last dividend date to the date of transfer of said assets. The district assumes no liability for the payment of dividends on any stock which may have accrued prior to the past dividend date, September 30, 1928. The directors of the company will submit to the stockholders the proposition of liquidating the company and of distributing its assets in liquidation.

TITLE OF TRANSFER
The company shall make all necessary deeds and conveyances and from time to time such further deeds, conveyances, writings and releases as may be necessary or desirable to transfer to the district all the title that the company has at the date of this contract to the assets which are the subject of this instrument, or which it may thereafter acquire therein or thereto, or to perfect the title of the district thereto, such deeds and conveyances to be satisfactory to the district.

That this agreement is conditioned upon the fact that if the district shall offer at public sale its bonds in the face amount of not less than Thirteen Million Two Hundred Ninety-eight Thousand Dollars ($13,298,000) in order to provide funds for the cash payment specified therein, and if at such sale neither the company, its fiscal agents, nor any other bona fide bidder, shall offer to pay at least one hundred and five per cent (105%) of the par value of such bonds, plus accrued interest, then in such event the district may, at its option, terminate this agreement. The district also agrees if its bonds are so offered at public sale, to give the company at least ten (10) days' written notice of the date upon which its bonds will be offered for sale.

CONSENT SOUGHT

That this agreement is further subject to the approval legally taken within forty (40) days from the date hereof of stockholders owning two-thirds of the A Preferred stock and two-thirds of the Common stock and eighty per cent (80%) of the B Preferred stock of the company. The company shall have forty (40) days from the date hereof to obtain such consents, provided however, that this time limit can be extended at the option of the district. Immediately upon obtaining the consent of stockholders hereinabove provided for, the company will apply to the Railroad Commission of the state of California and to the Corporation Commissioner of the state of California for the approval of the contract to the extent that such approval is required by law. The district agrees promptly upon notification that the conditions of this paragraph 5 have been satisfied, to sell or offer to sell the bonds in paragraph 4 hereof referred to.

That from and after the date of this contract and up to the time of the termination or consummation thereof as the case may be, the company agrees not to incur any indebtedness or make any expenditures except those incident to the ordinary operation of the company in its usual course of business, without the approval of the district and from and after the date of this contract the district shall be privileged to have its representatives in the office of the company during business hours for the purpose of making inspection of the books, records and data of the company preparatory to taking over said business and assets.

NO DIVIDENDS

That from and after the date of this contract and until the termination or consummation thereof as the case may be, the company agrees to pay no dividends in excess of its current dividends at the rate of six per cent (6%) on its Preferred A and Preferred B stock, nor to make any unusual or other distributions to its stockholders, nor to pay or agree to pay any bonuses or extra compensation to any of its officers or employees.

That the payments herein required to be made by the district shall be made out of the ordinary annual income and revenue of the district for the present fiscal year and any surplus now on hand from any preceding year supplemented by the proceeds of the sale of the bonds of the district that have been heretofore authorized, and out of any of the assets herein agreed to be conveyed available for such purpose. Until the obligations and liabilities imposed upon the district by this agreement have been satisfied and discharged the district agrees to keep on hand from the assets in this paragraph mentioned sufficient thereof to satisfy said obligations and liabilities.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties hereto have executed these presents the day and year first above written.

SPOTLESS FOOD STORES

Every Day Prices

Friday and Saturday "Specials" are attractive and offer savings to the housewife, but they are not a fair guide to the every-day value giving of a store.

The Richmond Jenny Wren Market is in the forefront of those who give extra values on Friday and Saturday but housewives who trade here regularly know that they make real savings on their every day purchases, and those are the savings that really count up.

No matter what department you patronize—grocery, meat, fruit and vegetable, delicatessen—you will find the same rule in effect—

EARLY FINANCE

THE exercise of business practices in the early days of most medieval countries was limited, interest charges being prohibited by law, both regal and religious. However, with the expansion of commerce during the rise of the Roman Empire, when large businesses sprang into existence, the advantages of interest charges were given recognition, and the practice became legalized. This development accelerated the evolutionary process that gave rise to banks.

Today, banks are so vital to business that if they were all to cease operating, industry and commerce would collapse.
